THE EMPIRE GROWS LARGER SIX NEW REGIONS RECOGNIZED AT MARCH IMPERIAL ESTATES MEETING

Six new regions were recognized at the March Imperial Estates Meeting, held March 23 and 24 in the Kingdom of Esperance, increasing the size of the empire to truly nationwide proportions.

Two New Duchys Created

After nearly a year of study and discussion, the Estates of Terre Neuve approved an amendment to their royal charter creating the Duchy of Brandenburg. The new duchy is located in northern San Diego County and borders the Kingdom of Esperance.

The Estates of the Kingdom of York, recognizing the growing interest in the Adrian Empire in the southeastern United States, have approved an amendment to their royal charter to create the Archduchy of Castilles. After much research and study of maps by the staff of the Adrian Herald, it was determined that the new archduchy will be approximately the area of southwest Florida (the Atlantic shore south of Boca Raton and the southern tip of the Florida peninsula), while the Kingdom of York will control the remainder of the state of Florida..

New Shires Formed

Interest in the Empire has also resulted in the approval of the charters of four new shires in areas heretofore unrepresented in the Empire. The first of these is the Shire of Dunvegan, located along the eastern Virginia shore. The second is the Shire of Crescent Moon, encompassing the states of New Jersey, Connecticut, and New York. The third is the Shire of Somerset, created in the northern portions of the states of Ohio and Indiana. The fourth shire, Slivovitz, encompasses the southern portions of the states of Ohio and Indiana, and the northeastern portion of the state of Kentucky. Long-time members may remember the Duchy of Slivovitz, that left the Empire for a time, and has now returned as a shire.

Other Agenda Items

It has also been reported that the Imperial Estates approved a "grandfather" clause to allow members in good standing of the kingdoms of TerreNueve and York to declare their citizenship as either Duchy or Kingdom citizens. It is estimated that this will affect less than 10% of the members in these two (now four) regions, but will allow those members with strong ties to their former regions to maintain their citizenship in the same kingdom as thier family or household.

With much gladness, the proposal to move toward a single, uniform renewal date, June 1, for the entire Empire was approved. This single renewal date will help the Imperial Steward's office to streamline the paperwork flow, and will enable the Imperial Chronicler's office to manage costs associated with the publication of the Adrian Herald. Memberships will now be effective from June 1 through May 31 of the following year; partial-year memberships will be from either June 1 through January 31 of the following year, or from February 1 through May 31. It was proposed from the floor that new memberships be prorated to the nearest quarter; the results of this proposal were not available at press time.

FROM THE IMPERIAL FAMILY

Oh, how Our Empire continues to grow! We are pleased that Our Estates have agreed with the populace of so many new regions, and have ratified the charters of the new subdivisions presented at the last Imperial Estates Meeting.

We welcome to Our Empire the new Archduchy of Castille and the new Archduchy of Brandenburg. Each kingdom that has given birth to these new subdivisions should be proud: their offspring will surely prosper and continue to bring glory to all Our subdivisions.

We also welcome no less than four new Imperial Shires: Slivovitz, Somerset, Dunvegan, and Crescent Moon, each formed in new areas. Each of these areas seems active and interested, and We are comfortable in the knowledge that soon these areas too will be recognized as Duchies, Archduchies, and Kingdoms in their own right.

Much has happened during the first part of Our reign, some of it pleasant, some troubling, some expected, and some quite unexpected. In spite of everything, Adria has continued to grow and prosper. This is testimony to the good people of Our Empire, and how we all can rise above personal issues and work for the betterment of the Empire as a whole.

Finally, We are pleased to announce that, as no challenge has been made to Our Rule, the Wars scheduled for May 25-26 in Georgia and California shall be dedicated to fun and the glory of the subdivisions that fight under their banners. We encourage Our beloved populace to make their way to either of the Banner War sites, to defend the honor of their home province, and enjoy the fun and camaraderie that is so much a part of Our Empire.

A WORD FROM THE IMPERIAL PHYSIKER

by Sir Gryphon von Hohenheim

This is an exciting time of year in the Empire when wars are taking place and new Rulers are beginning their (hopefully successful) reigns. As such, with new rulers often comes new Ministers and I would like to take this opportunity to address the position of Minister of Physiks. The position of Physiker is a required Ministry position of all subdivisions and therefore is one that should not be overlooked when appointing new ministers. In larger Subdivisions it is also a good idea to have Deputy Physikers so as to assure coverage at each and every event. The responsibilities of Physiker are those of a first aid provider and are therefore required to have at least advanced first aid training. If no one in the Subdivision is qualified, it is the responsibility of the ruling Crown to appoint a person willing to receive the appropriate training. It is important to point out, however, that the Physiker is there to aid individuals in need, and not to force treatment or therapy upon someone. Another duty is the periodic reporting of injuries/ illnesses. Simple deeds such as providing water for combatants is a service that will be much appreciated.

Some new changes coming for the upcoming year will be a Physiker listserve for dissemination and sharing of information. I have contacted all the current Crowns for their current Physiker information and will do so again in the upcoming months to get more updated information, however, feel free to contact me at any time with new information. Also new this year will be the appointment of regional Deputy Imperial Physikers whose duties will be monitoring of regional reports and forwarding them when complete as well as organizing Physikers for regional Imperial Crown Wars/Events.

Anyone interested in serving as local Physikers should see their local crowns. If anyone has additional questions I can be contacted at the email address listed in the Herald or on the Adrian Empire Website.

ARAGON CHOCOLATE WAR

*May 11, 2002
Lorenz Park
Las Vegas, NV*

Join the Crowns, nobility, peers, and populace of Aragon for an event with the theme of "chocolate," that delicacy introduced to Cortez by the Aztecs.

Combat for this war will be regular tournament rules. After each round of combat, there will be a melee to help everyone get ready for the up-and-coming wars. Combat will start with Steel, Sergeant's Ren, Knight's Ren, and Shinai if there are enough fighters for a list. If there is no list, there will be a serial melee.

Archery will be shooting a following weekend if there is not enough time.

Arts and Sciences entries should be based on the theme: Chocolate. This can include poems, songs, and food entries.

For further information, please contact the autocrat, Dame Caoimhe O'Raghallaigh at LadyCaoimhe@yahoo.com.

CAERLEON RECENT AWARDS

Reported by Dame Ruth Freebourne

Greetings unto the good folk of the Empire! It has been decided among us heralds that it would be good to announce our subdivision's Knightings at an Imperial level, to keep everyone up to date on the Chivalry. As Caerleon has never announced any Knightings, I will give the full list of our chivalry in this announcement, and will give future updates as needed. In rough order of Knighting/location:

Canton of Thatuna

Dame Ruth Freebourne, Knight Minister
Dame Aleska Andraitene, Knight Minister
Sir Phaelan ap Aur Derwin, Knight Minister, Knight Robe
Sir David of Hillsbend, Knight Minister, Knight Robe
Dame Maria of Hillsbend, Knight Robe
Sir Aeryck Nilsson, Knight Minister

Canton of Guent

Sir Temple Livingstone, Knight Minister

In addition, Dame Maria of Hillsbend is due to take Knight Minister at our next Canton of Thatuna Tournament, making her the third person in our Archduchy with more than one Knighthood. Huzzah!

CAERLEON CANTON OF GUENT TOURNEY

*May 11, 2002
6624 N. Regal
Spokane, WA*

Join the populace of Caerleon as they gather for this event in the lovely Canton of Guent. The schedule includes archery practice in the morning, with an Archery Tourney to follow. After a short break for lunch, there will be Ren and Shinai practice. Shinai lists will be run in the afternoon, followed by an Arts and Sciences competition.

The day's festivities will conclude with Court, followed by a potluck dinner. The kitchen will be open for warming and storage of food stuffs.

For further information, contact the autocrat, Mickos Douglas, the Viceroy of Guent at mickos67@yahoo.com

TIERRA DEL FUEGO

Reported by Dame Maud de Clayton

Mistress Jane Worthington of Tierra del Fuego tends to her knitting. Photo by Sir Jakob der Jude.

Cold winds and threatened rain did not stop a hearty band of Tierra del Fuegians from enjoying some keen archery competition on March 9th. Taking advantage of the chill temperatures (it was only in the upper 40s) to wear clothes more suited for Northern Europe than California, the populace enjoyed an afternoon of archery, with Sir Reichardt Bartolomeus emerging as the top archer of the day.

As per the usual custom in Tierra del Fuego, a dinner was held for participants at Jakobhaus, residence of the new archduchess. Attendees enjoyed a festive meal of lamb with quinces, game pie, leeks with pancetta, a selection of cheeses, bread, and a fine Italian cheese pie.

April Event

Fine weather and a long spring afternoon was one of the highlights enjoyed by Tierra del Fuegians as they enjoyed archery and fighting on April 20th. The warm temperatures induced many to unpack summer finery, and the beauty of the participants was enhanced by the beauty of the setting, a garden bordered by roses and shaded by majestic trees.

As usual, the competition for the title of top archer was keen, with high scores recorded before Gillia, a gentleman from the Outlands attending his first Adria event emerged triumphant. Sir Wilhelm der Grosse and Sir Nicholas Worthington sponsored a Spring Shinai Competition: while the list was small, they both declared honor to be satisfied.

The active day culminated with a feast, held at Schloss von Katzburg, and attended by the cream of Imperial society, including His Imperial Majesty, Her Imperial Highness Princess Elisabeth Grey, the Archduchess, the Second Viscountess Tierra del Fuego, and peers, knights, and populace. The attendees dined on quail braised in red wine and spices, a flavored rice, brawn (a spiced, pickled pork dish), chicken blanchmange, pickles, olives, an assortment of cheeses, and the season's first strawberries, served with a fine wine from the cellar of Sir Reichart Bartolomeus.

May will be a busy month, with the next event scheduled for May 18th, before members of Tierra del Fuego venture to Esperance to defend the honor of the Archduchess at the Banner War.

TERRE NEUVE

SIR BADGER KELLY AND DAME KENDRA MCFADDYN CROWNED

The peers, chivalry, and populace of the Kingdom of Terre Neuve enjoyed the final tourney of the reign of Their Royal Majesties, Sir Rhys Ap Thomas and Dame Marcella Donna Visconti, then assembled for the Coronation of Sir Badger Kelly and Dame Kendra McFaddyn as the new King and Queen of Terre Neuve on April 20, 2002. Held at the beautiful Linda Vista Community Center Park in San Diego, the tourney featured well-competed combat and arts lists.

After the day's activities, a feast was held for participants at the community center located at the park. Sir Badger and Dame Kendra were crowned the new King and Queen of Terre Neuve with pomp and ceremony, and many expressed their hope for a happy, prosperous and successful reign.

EFFECTIVE COMMUNICATION

By Dame Aleska Andraitiene ap Aur Derwen

With any organization, be it for fun or profit, communication is one of the most important tools any organizer has at their fingertips. Good, effective communication lets your people know what is happening and how they can help. It lets your ministers work together, and ensures that information flows smoothly between subdivisions or other groups that must work together.

One of the most basic needs of any subdivision is keeping your populace informed. This is of the utmost importance in maintaining regular attendance, preventing rumors, distributing information, and basically providing whatever the populace needs to know in order to create what ultimately becomes your subdivision.

While everyone will find different ways to communicate in their areas, there are some basics in announcement making that are almost universal. These are little tips I have picked up from my career(s) as a broadcaster, educator, public relations specialist, or manager. I have found these little communication hints are equally useful in my work with our regional and local Adria chapter, and so I make this quick reference list hoping that perhaps it will be useful for others as well.

The Five Ws and the H

Always keep in mind the W's and the H: WHO, WHAT, WHEN, WHERE, WHY, and HOW. Every announcement written or verbal should include EACH of these key terms. They can also help you focus a lot of data into manageable chunks easier to release.

WHO: Who is involved? Who needs to know? Who might be interested? Who is hosting? Who is attending? Who wants to come? Who do people need to contact to learn more?

WHAT: What exactly is happening? In detail, what is happening in what process.

WHEN: When is this happening? When do they need to act? When is the deadline, if any? When is the activity? When will it start and when will it end? What day, month, hour? Is the event happening by itself, or is it part of another activity? Be specific as possible!

WHERE: Where is this activity taking place? What city, what park, what location, what door or driveway, etc. information that people can use to know WHERE to go to attend this event, and what locations this event affects.

HOW: How is the event taking place? What steps do people need to take? Do they need to reserve space, contact a person, bring materials? Is help needed, and if so, How can people help, as specifically as possible. How can people learn more?

The K.I.S.S Principle

Keep It Simple, Stupid. This is a mantra in broadcast and print media, be it advertising, public relations, or hard news. It means to say what needs to be said very quickly, and keep it to the point. Try not to get distracted and cover too much in one place. Succinct and precise. Not every piece of information needs to be included in every location.

The Pyramid Scheme

When writing articles for newsletters, or sending out an announcement over the net or the mailing list of your subdivision, you have to decide what information goes where, and how to write it. The Pyramid method of information triage is most useful.

The Pyramid method basically means that you start with the most important fact first. Then you build on it by adding the second most important, then the third most important, etc. This serves two purposes. First, it keeps the most important information from being buried in text, and possibly overlooked. Secondly, if you are pressed for space, it makes it a lot easier to edit your text by removing text from the end. Since the most important information is presented first, the information at the end may very well be expendable in a tight squeeze.

P and P: Practice and Patience

Take a few minutes to jot down what you need to say. If you can, write it up, wait a while, and go back to edit it again. This helps you approach the information from a fresh point of view and make things more clear. If you are in a hurry to get out some important information, try to get someone else to read over your post/text to help you spot any confusing wordings or important information that might have accidentally gotten left out. If you are going to make a verbal announcement, try to rehearse it (even if it's just in your head) and if possible jot it down on some paper to check for all important information or clarity. And if you are emotionally worked up over something, make doubly sure that you get other opinions and wait a bit before writing or speaking. This will ensure clarity of your text, and help prevent any emotions from negatively affecting what you have to say.

Getting Verbal

Heraldic practices aside, there are a couple of easy things to help keep people hearing what is being uttered by spokespersons, that will hopefully prevent the need for screaming.

1) Say it twice: The first few words are often overlooked as people focus their attention to the new item of interest, the speaker. Address your introduction twice and be sure to include the important information a few seconds into the address so it isn't overlooked in haste.

2) Habits: People can be creatures of habit. Create a habit around your announcement procedures. Using repetitive and key signals will help people keep focused. Key signals can be: A special noise, timing, standing in a certain place, wearing certain garb, etc.

3) Method: Try to pick and train people in basic public speaking skills for announcement making. This means clarity of words and pronunciation, loudness of voice, and awareness of attention-feedback from the populace to judge effectiveness of the announcements.

4) Practice: Don't be shy about practicing loud speaking! It takes time to learn how to project a voice so everyone can hear without the speaker hurting their vocal cords. The same thing goes for learning how to enunciate clearly, get peoples' attention, and judge the often subliminal audience feedback. And it doesn't hurt to plan aggressively ahead of time your announcement plans— (see #3) And remember that the more people trained for this, the more who can make announcements in skilled and effective fashions!

And thus I hope that I have provided some information that may be of use. I welcome input on this issue, or others, so that we can provide future ministers and subdivisions with the best resources we can!

WHO'S THE HAT?

A BRIEF GUIDE TO REGALIA AND MODES OF ADDRESS IN THE EMPIRE

By Dame Maud de Clayton, Escallop Herald

One of the most asked questions at events is, "Who's the guy (or woman) in the crown and how do I address them?" This can often be confusing; many titles carry with them the right to wear a crown or coronet (frequently referred to as "pointy hats"), and most of them are not currently sitting rulers.

The wearing of crowns and coronets is covered in Imperial Writ #18: Armigerous Rights, Regalia & Modes of Address, Orders and Awards, and Ministry Badges. This handy document is available from the Imperial website (www.adrianempire.org), and can be found in the "Library" section.

First and foremost, all non-chivalric nobility (Lords, Ladies, etc.) are entitled to wear regalia headgear. Those with ranks of Baron and above are entitled to wear a coronet or a crown; those with rank below Baron are entitled to wear a circlet. The difference between a coronet and crown is merely terminology in the Empire, and dates from the days when only kings, queens, emperors and empresses wore crowns, while archdukes, archduchesses, dukes, and duchesses wore coronets. The difference between a crown and a circlet is physical: a crown has points, while a circlet doesn't.

Modes of Address

While it can be confusing to remember if the person wearing the crown is the King of Esperance, or the Vicount of Tierra del Fuego, the form of address can be simple: simply address everyone wearing a "hat" as "Your Grace," and you can't go wrong. "Your Grace" is a wonderful form of address: it shows the appropriate respect to the greatest rulers (the Emperor and Empress), while showing great respect to those who's rank may not be quite at that level.

For those interested in proper forms of address, they are:

Crowns/Coronets

Emperor and Empress (current Imperial rulers):	Your Majesty, Your Grace
Imperial Crown Prince and Imperial Crown Princess (the Imperial heirs):	Your Highness, Your Grace
Prince and Princess (retired Imperial rulers):	Your Highness, Your Grace
King and Queen (current local rulers):	Your Majesty, Your Grace
Crown Prince and Crown (the local heirs):	Your Highness, Your Grace
Archduke and Archduchess (current local rulers):	Your Royal Grace, Your Grace
Duke and Duchess (current local rulers):	Your Royal Grace, Your Grace
Count Royal and Countess Royal (retired kings and queens):	Your Grace
Founding Viscounts and Viscountesses (founders of the Empire):	Your Grace
Viscounts and Viscountesses (retired archdukes, Archduchesses, dukes, and duchesses):	Your Excellency
Marquis and Marquessa (ruler of a large local group):	Your Excellency

Viceroy and Vicereine (ruler of a Shire):	Your Excellency
Count and Countess (ruler of a medium-sized local group):	Your Excellency
Baron and Baroness (ruler of a small local group):	Your Excellency
Court Baron and Court Baroness (awarded title):	Your Excellency

Circlets

Lords and Ladies (awarded titles):	Your Lordship, Your Ladyship
Sire of Lady of a Household:	Your Lordship Your Ladyship

Others

Knights (every level):	Sir [name], Dame [name]
Lord or Lady Protector (acting Crowns):	Your Grace
Canton Viceroys and Vicereines:	Your Lordship Your Ladyship

GINGERBREAD-MAKING

By Dame Kate MacPherson MacIntosh

It has occurred to me that some have had trouble with interpretation of the gingerbread recipe in Pleyn Delit.

The original recipe indicates after taking the honey and breadcrumbs off the heat and adding the spices "and temper it up with pinhands;" this is a very important piece of information that is left out of the translation. If one cooks the honey and breadcrumbs until "...thick, well blended mass..." then it will more than likely cool and become too hard to eat. To temper with your hands is to knead more breadcrumbs into the mixture until it is the correct consistency to be formed, but still able to be cut and eaten. Medieval gingerbread is more like a candy than it is bread.

Also, the food coloring "saundres" is basically powdered sandalwood, which gives a slightly red color to food.

A friend, when I first read the recipe to her and came to the part "impossible to get 'long pepper'..." said, "I wonder if that could really be vanilla bean pod as it tastes peppery before you open it?" To that end, when I make this recipe, I use cinnamon, ginger, and ¼ to ½ teaspoon of vanilla extract.

(Editor's Note: "Long pepper" (Piper longum) is a small, hard black capsule full of very tiny seeds and is available at some Indian groceries. A common substitution is regular black pepper.)

SCHOLA ST. GEORGE ANNOUNCES DATES OF MIEVEAL SWORDSMANSHIP SYMPOSIUM

June 7th through 9th, 2002
The Barn, 3131 Pacific Ave.
Livermore, CA

Be it known that the Schola Saint George, having been completely overwhelmed with the response from the first Symposium—held in May of 2001—have determined to bring together another Western Martial Arts (WMA) event—this year with even more instruction and accommodating even more than the 156 attendees present at last year's Swordsmanship Celebration.

Taking place in picturesque old Livermore, California, just outside of the San Francisco Bay Area, the venue for this event will be a large building dressed for the occasion. "The Barn" has sufficient space to handle even a medium-sized tournament and a large dinner indoors, so our tournaments are not at weather risk. The site carries its own insurance (expensive, but worthwhile). This year we will be erecting an additional classroom tent outside to accommodate three full tracks of classes and workshops.

Come and share your experiences and learn principles and tricks from swordmasters and practitioners renowned worldwide for their scholarship, skill and conduct, including Andrew Deane, Fight Construction expert from the Royal Armouries, Leeds, Steaphen Fick of the Davenriche Academy, Ramon Martinez of the Martinez Academy of Arms, Stephen Hand of the Stoccata School of Defense, Sydney, William Wilson of the Tattershall School of Defense, Paul MacDonald of the MacDonald Academy, Edinburgh, and Christian Henry Tobler, author of Secrets of German Medieval Swordsmanship. Meet the authors who are creating Chivalry Bookshelf titles. Test your skills in the Medireview Pas d'Armes or in the Renaissance Prize Playing. Share your thoughts and experiences at our Saturday night Medireview Feast.

Note that this is not a reenactment event; this symposium is unaffiliated with any society and the opinions and techniques demonstrated may have limited application within the context of other forms of combat. During the Pas d'Armes, Medireview Dinner and Fencing Tournament, appropriate clothing is to be encouraged but not required. Combat standards for the tournaments will be published separately.

For more information and registration, contact the Schola St. George at http://www.chronique.com/schola/June_symposium.html.

BOYDELL AND BREWER ANNOUNCE NEW RELEASES FOR SUMMER

Boydell and Brewer is pleased to announce the summer reissue of Dress Accessories. This is the third volume in the series Medieval finds from Excavations in London and is an invaluable sourcebook, documenting the discoveries of items of medieval dress accessories in London. Discussing over two thousand brooches, rings, buckles, pendants etc. this is a book that will appeal to the general reader as well as the dress historian and archaeologist. Appearing in hardback for $60, this book is heavily illustrated in color and black and white.

Dress Accessories will be available in July. Boydell and Brewer encourages you to place your orders now and be put on back order. When the book becomes available, it will be shipped to you immediately.

Boydell and Brewer is also pleased to announce the forthcoming publication of Heraldry, Pageantry and Social Display in Medieval England, edited by Peter Coss and Maurice Keen. Social display studied seriously for the first time, is discussed through a range of artifacts including monumental effigies, brasses, jewels, seals, coins, etc. Well illustrated in color and black and white, this volume addresses a series of interrelated themes around the issue of display. Also available in July for $70.00

The discount schedule for both books is as follows:

1-4 copies 20%
5 or more 40%
20 or more 45%
50 or more 50%

If you would like additional information about these titles or any of the titles in the Medieval Fiends from Excavations in London series, please visit Boydell and Brewer's website at <http://www.boydell.co.uk/LIVING1.htm>.
