

LORR DECEMBER 2004

Greetings to the Adrian Empire,

I hope the LoRR for December 2004 meets with most of your approval.

I believe that with the commitment I have seen so far from the officers of the college that this upcoming year will prove to be an eventful one. We are all committed to processing registrations in a timely matter and on alert to keep proper records. I have a few bits of information I would like to extend to you all.

Computer Generated Graphics on device forms:

The chief members of the college have reviewed this policy and with the consent of Their Imperial Majesties feel that from this time forward computer generated graphics on device forms will be accepted. Arms created with colored pencils and crayons will not be accepted still. After reviewing this bulk of 120 or so device's, I felt that it would be unfair to send back so many that were created with colored pencils, since so many had waited so long for some sort of reply. But from this time on all forms presented in this manner will be immediately returned by the Regional Deputy's.

New Device Registration Form:

There is a new device registration form that is currently available on the Yahoo Heraldry Group in the file named "New Business". We are making efforts now to have it available on the Adrian Empire website in the library and in the College of Arms section.

Precedents and Policy's - Reference Guide

In an effort to reduce the frustration felt by many in researching and understanding the policies of the College of Arms in the Adrian Empire. We have compiled a guide that references all documented precedents issued by the College. This Also is available on the Yahoo Heraldry Group in the file named "New Business". We are making efforts now to have it available on the Adrian Empire website in the library and in the College of Arms section

Dead Line for Black Hole and Missing Device's

It is readily known that in the past, through problems within the College and acts of the universe, that device's have turned up missing. Many have struggled to correct this problem in the past six months, yet the devices are still showing up out of the wood work. It is my concern that the college will never be able to truly correct these discrepancies. In a way I feel that it is necessary that we in a sense start from the beginning. Hence forth any device claimed to be submitted to the College from the inception of registration in the Adrian Empire up to Sept 1, 2004, must be resubmitted to the College by January 7, 2005. Proper Documentation must be sent, and any claims of registration must have documentation. Verbal registrations are not recognized by this administration and there is plenty of evidence to support that the previous administrations did not accept it either. As of January 7, 2005 all submissions will be considered new and held accountable to current policies.

Checklist of Armory

Within two weeks we will be sending to every subdivision a packet. You will get in your packet a list of all armory registered to your local Kingdom, Duchy, or Shire. Please show it to your Crowns and Estates. If you do not get such a list, that means your region has no armory registered to it.

Along with this list will be a Letter for you to give to your Crown. It will list all of the armory on it. Please check off all of the armory for Estates in your region which have been defunct for 3 years or so (or however long you and your Crown deem appropriate), and have your Crown sign it. This needs to be returned to the Imperial Sovereign of Arms not later than January 15, 2005.

If you have two Crowns, please have both of them sign the letter. There is a space for you to check off if your region does not wish to release any armory.

These letters MUST be returned. They are MANDATORY. If I do not receive your region's letter by the deadline, I will assume that you want ALL of your armory released. I apologize for the short time, but it shouldn't take long to fill out the letter and mail it back to me. The list of released Estate armory should be published in the next LoRR. If you have any questions, please contact me as soon as possible.

Education

Out of the 39 arms returned in this LoRR, almost half had violations from the first page of The Heraldry Manual.. Perhaps it is from a lack of reading and perhaps it is from a lack of education provided from the College. We shall attempt to correct both situations in the upcoming year. Please be on the look out for up coming education from the College.

I wish you all a safe holiday and thoughts of goodwill for you and your loved ones.

Sincerely,
Sir L'Bet'e deAcmd
Imperial Sovereign of Arms
